

MUNICIPAL DEVELOPMENT IN PARANÁ CONTENTS

Foreword	i
Author's Preface	iii
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY	xi
Acronyms	xxiii
Chapter 1. ORIGINS	3
1.1 The geography of Paraná	3
1.2 Early settlement and governance	4
1.3 Regional development of Paraná, 1860 to 1980	5
1.3.1 Development of southern Paraná and the Curitiba Plateau	6
1.3.2 Agricultural development in western Paraná	8
1.3.3 The coffee industry in northern Paraná	8
Chapter 2. SECTORAL TRANSFORMATIONS AND URBANIZATION AFTER 1970	13
2.1 Introduction	13
2.2 The mechanization of agriculture	15
2.3 Industrial growth and diversification	17
2.4 Emergence of the tertiary sector	18
2.5 Internal migration and urbanization	23
2.6 The proliferation of municipalities	26
2.7 Municipal finance	28
2.8 Municipal assistance before 1980	32
Chapter 3. EARLY EFFORTS AT MUNICIPAL BETTERMENT, 1980-89	39
3.1 Introduction	39
3.2 Municipal budgets in 1980	40
3.3 The Secretariat for Municipal Development	43
3.4 Program of Municipal Support (PRAM-1), 1981-82	44
3.5 Program of Municipal Action (PRAM-2), 1984-89	48
3.5.1 Program objectives	48
3.5.2 Administrative changes	49
3.5.3 Program budget	50
3.5.4 Allocating grants funds among municipalities	51
3.5.5 Allocating grants funds among projects	53
3.5.6 Allocating loan funds	53
3.5.7 Program implementation	54
3.5.8 The accomplishments of PRAM-2	57
3.6 General evaluation of PRAM-2	60

63	Chapter 4. LENDING FOR URBAN DEVELOPMENT, 1989-96
63	4.1 The State Program for Urban Development (PEDU)
65	4.2 PEDU and the Urban Development Fund
67	4.3 Program objectives
67	4.4 Administrative arrangements
70	4.5 Program budget
72	4.6 Credit standards for municipal loans
74	4.7 Budget allocation for eligible projects
76	4.7.1 Institutional development projects
76	4.7.2 Infrastructure projects
79	4.8 Program implementation
82	4.9 PEDU's achievements
82	4.9.1 Improving managerial and institutional capacity
83	4.9.2 Providing basic economic and social infrastructure in urban areas
86	4.9.3 Decentralizing urban administration and financial management
86	4.9.4 Improving the targeting of urban programs to lower-income populations
87	4.9.5 Creating and strengthening the FDU as a source of long-term financing
88	4.10 General evaluation of PEDU
91	Chapter 5. PARANÁ URBANO (1996-2000) AND PARANACIDADE
91	5.1 Introduction
91	5.1.1 National economic stabilization under Cardoso
93	5.1.2 Parasian development planning under Lerner
95	5.2 The State Program for Urban Development: PARANÁ URBANO
95	5.2.1 The preliminary proposal
99	5.2.2 The loan proposal and contract with IDB
106	5.3 New administrative arrangements for PARANÁ URBANO
108	5.3.1 The creation of PARANACIDADE
108	5.3.2 The role of the Urban Development Fund (FDU)
110	5.3.3 The role of the State Bank (BANESTADO)
110	5.3.4 The role of Municipal Associations
111	5.4 Program implementation
114	5.4.1 Institutional development and reinforcement
116	5.4.2 Basic urban services
117	5.4.3 Social service facilities
118	5.4.4 Small producer facilities
118	5.5 The achievements of PARANÁ URBANO
119	5.5.1 Improving the conditions of urban life
120	5.5.2 Investing in urban infrastructure
122	5.5.3 Strengthening municipal administrative capacity
127	5.5.4 Developing a spatially ordered hierarchical system of cities
128	5.6 General evaluation of PARANÁ URBANO
133	Appendix: Physical and financial characteristics of municipal development projects supported by PARANÁ URBANO

Chapter 6. EVALUATION AND PROSPECTS	143
6.1 Introduction	143
6.2 Overview of municipal development programs, 1981-2001	143
6.3 Application of program funds	145
6.4 Major products of municipal development programs	147
6.5 Measuring costs and benefits	149
6.6 Regional planning vs. local choice	150
6.7 Encouraging institutional reform	152
6.8 PARANACIDADE	155
6.9 The Urban Development Fund	157
6.10 The Future of municipal development programs in Paraná	165
Addendum	170
Appendix: Financial records of the Urban Development Fund	171
 WORKS CITED	185
Personal authors	185
Institutional authors	188